Central Wisconsin's KI Mobility Nominated for Recognition

Sen. Patrick Testin Nominates Revolutionary Wheelchair as "Coolest Thing Made in Wisconsin"

Stevens Point, WI – Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce (WMC), the state's chamber of commerce, is currently accepting nominations for their 5th annual "Coolest Thing Made in Wisconsin" contest. Senator Patrick Testin (Stevens Point), who each year suggests a product made in the 24th District for consideration, has nominated KI Mobility's Ethos wheelchair for this year's contest.

The unique design of Ethos allows wheelchair users to get through their day without feeling the negative effect vibration has on their body. Ethos uses patent pending Isolation Technology to separate the wheelchair user from the road, dramatically reducing the amount of vibration they feel.

"Central Wisconsin is home to many employers working to make a difference, and KI Mobility in Stevens Point is a fine example of that," said Senator Testin. "They produce a variety of wheelchairs and other seating options for people with disabilities, but the Ethos chair is truly one-of-a-kind."

"KI Mobility is dedicated to developing products that improve lives, we always talk about making it better by design," said Doug Munsey, President of KI Mobility. "With Ethos we were able to address the problems that vibrations from normal wheelchair use cause the user."

Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce is accepting nominations for the contest until September 4th. The public will have the opportunity to vote for their favorite product later that month.
